HELPFUL INFORMATION:

Catholic Divorce Facts

- † Divorced Catholics are not ex-communicated.
- † Divorced Catholics in good standing with the church, who are not remarried, may receive the sacraments.
- † Divorced Catholics are full members of the Catholic Church and can participate fully in the life of the church.
- † Neither divorce nor annulment affects the legitimacy of children.
- † Before a divorced Catholic can remarry in the Church, a declaration of nullity must be granted.

The loss of a primary relationship causes a deep-seated sadness. At the time of divorce there are many emotions inside your head and heart – anger, confusion, loss, guilt, rejection and fear – to name a few.

The Archdiocese of Chicago recognizes the difficult nature of life at this time and extends compassion and ministry to the divorced through the Family Ministries Office.

Faith and courage are needed to rebuild life after the end of a marriage. Those who have “been there” are able to offer strength and hope to newcomers. Through a network of peer support, every person is encouraged to rebuild life in the style they prefer.

DIVORCE OUTREACH

If you are separated, use the time of separation to reflect on God’s will for you. Attend Retrouvaille (a weekend retreat for troubled marriages), seek effective counseling from a professional and pray for strength to follow your marital commitment.

If you are a single parent, seek help from other single parents. Attend parent education opportunities in your community, school and church. Ask for help when you need it.

If you are co-parenting, learn to share the children in a kind way. Do not punish the other parent. Only the children suffer with that behavior. For your sake and the sake of the children – it’s better to be kind than to be right.

If you are divorced, attend peer self-help groups, seek effective, professional counseling to help you manage the changes in your life; get plenty of rest and exercise, eat smart, do not drink alcohol.

Pray on a daily basis.

ANNULMENT SUPPORT

(A collaborative ministry between the Tribunal Office and Family Ministries Office of the Archdiocese of Chicago)

After a divorce an annulment is required if you wish to remarry in the Catholic Church. Many parishes now offer Annulment Support Ministry to help you start the paperwork and provide you with some pastoral support for the challenges in completing the process.

In the annulment process, an inquiry is made into the marital consent of the two parties. Often, upon investigation, a discovery is made that some essential element of consent was missing. Many people feel an inner peace and spiritual closure after going through the annulment process.

Steps to the annulment process:

1. Obtain the beginning application form from your local parish office.
2. Complete the form, have your pastoral minister sign it and you mail it into the Tribunal office.
3. Respond to any requests from the Tribunal – writing your testimony, producing documents, etc.
4. Set a timeline to complete this work within a few months of receiving the forms from the Tribunal.
5. Ask for help from an Annulment Support minister if you get ‘stuck.’ 312-534-8353.
6. Keep copies of everything you send to the Tribunal.
7. Monitor the progress of your case through contact with the Tribunal Office and your assigned judge.
